

*The Register of William Edington
Bishop of Winchester
1346-1366*

Southwark, 27 October 1346

Licence for a private oratory granted to Joan de Middketon for her house at Oxenbourn in the parish of East Meon, for a moderate period; at the discretion of the vicar to whom the bishop addresses the licence.

No date, probably Southwark, April 1348

Another mandate for matrimonial case, addressed to the vicar of East Meon. Report has informed the bishop that John de Meone, "cornmangere" and Alice Damie, who are solemnly married in the eyes of the Church, have separated, both living dissolute lives. Since they are both under the vicar's jurisdiction, their way of life could be imputed to his negligence; he must exhort them to amend their ways and to resume married life.

30 June 1358

Two appointments. William de Consold' to be constable of the castle of Farnham and John de Alresford to be bailiff of East Meon

Southwark, 3 November 1361

Collation by the bishop of the vicarage of the church of East Meon on Edmund of Ludespade priest. To be perpetual vicar residing according to the constitutions. Letter for the induction to the official of Winchester.

Marwell, 2 September 1364

Memorandum that Roger Gervays was appointed by the bishop bailiff of East Meon, at the bishop's pleasure.

Wolvesley, 28 March 1366

Exchange of benefices within the diocese between John Symond', rector of the church of Mottistone, Isle of Wight, and Edmund de Ludespade vicar of East Meon. The bishop examined the case, received the resignations and instituted Edmund to Mottistone, at the presentation of Edward Chike, patron by right of his wife; subsequently the bishop collated the vicarage of East Meon on John Symond, to be perpetual vicar, residing according to the constitutions of Otto and Ottobon, for which he took the oath. Letter for the induction to the archdeacon of Winchester and the rector of Alresford.
