Couple settle in at post office

Frank and Jenny Wheeler are settling in to their new roles running East Meon post office and shop, having taken over from Judy Barber.

The handover of the business was marked by a presentation to Mrs Barber, who retired from the job.

She received gifts from village garden club members in a presentation ceremony outside the post office.

Mr Wheeler previously worked in the underwater off shore industry.

The postal business is new to him and his wife. The couple have lived in the village for many years.
